- Precision-machined from solid brass
- Roller mechanism minimize friction
- · Sharper attack, extended sustain, & warm tone
- Retrofit for most Strat® style bridges

Introducing the String Surfer retrofitting saddles by AxLabs Guitar Hardware, designed specifically for Strat*-style bridges. Precision machined from solid brass, these saddles offer enhanced density and tonal qualities, delivering a sharper attack, extended sustain, and a warmer tone compared to stock thin pressed-steel or zinc block-style saddles.

Moreover, the roller mechanisms significantly minimize friction and binding, allowing the strings to effortlessly glide over the saddle surface. Not only does this advancement ensure a more precise string return during bends, but it also effectively minimizes the occurrence of string breakage on tremolo-equipped instruments.
